(Montgomery-Bureau, Albany-
Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, Aug. 5.—The petition of citizens of Coffee county for a writ of mandamus requiring the state tax commission to proceed at once to revalue and reassess all property in Alabama will be considered before Judge Walter B. Jones in the Montgomery circuit court Friday.

The petition, which was filed several days ago, contends that the revenue act of 1919 which provides that assessments of property when made after the board of tax adjusters have made a personal inspection of the property involved shall stand for two years violates the constitution of Alabama and that assessments shall be placed on the property by the state's taxing authorities every year.

This is one of the cases brought as a result of the organization of the Alabama Tax Payers League which held an organization meeting in Montgomery two or three months ago. Several attorneys have been employed by the league to represent the petitioners. Attorney-General Harwell G. Davis and Hugh White, special assistant attorney-general, will represent the state tax commission.

Whatever the decision of the Montgomery circuit court, it is proposed to take the issue to the state supreme court for final adjudication.

YOUNG FARMER SHOT TO DEATH, DETAILS LACKING

Ralph McCluskey is being sought by Lawrence county officers in connection with the shooting to death of a young farmer named Clark Thursday near the line between Morgan and Lawrence counties, according to reports received here this afternoon.

Chief of Police Rogers, of Hartsville, telephoned the first information of the affair here yesterday late when he requested local officers to be on the lookout for McCluskey, who was said to have started this way. Friday afternoon Chief Rogers was able to supply no new details of the shooting, when he was called on long distance.

He said the exact cause of the shooting had not been learned several different stories regarding the cause being told. Both of the young men were prominent in the section in which they resided and both enjoyed a large circle of friends. Clark was shot to death with a shot gun, almost the entire load entering his left breast, it was stated. He was rushed to Danville for medical treatment, but died before reaching there.

MELLON FAILS TO GET MORE REVENUE

International News Service
WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—Secretary of the Treasury Mellon failed to day to convince congress that new taxes are needed to care for the government's needs during the present and next fiscal year.

His plea for another quarter of a billion dollars apparently fell on deaf ears, for Republican leaders in the house are as determined as ever that no additional levies will be made. The Democrats are frankly gleeful over the situation and they are already planning to make political capital over the Republican promise to decrease taxes.

HOWELL TRIALS OPENED TODAY IN HUNTSVILLE

With Sheriff J. V. May and Deputies Halbrooks and Brown in Huntsville today interest in the C. E. Howell case turned to Huntsville where the preliminary hearing of thirteen defendants, arrested by Prohibition Enforcement Officer Pierce, following the killing of the officer, was scheduled to start. Mr. Howell was shot to death on July 17 while conducting a raid in Limestone county, just across the river from Morgan county.

The majority of the thirteen defendants in the proceedings at Huntsville today have been in jail since the slaying. The cases are scheduled to come before Commissioner Richardson and the court this morning began the task of organization and was expected to get well into the trial of the cases today.

There was a large number of witnesses when the cases were called this morning and it may be several days before the preliminaries are completed. All of the defendants entered pleas of not guilty when arraigned according to advices received by The Daily.

TWO ARE ACCUSED

HUNTSVILLE, ALA., Aug. 5.—Preliminary hearing of 13 men said to be involved in the killing of prohibition officer C. E. Howell began here this a. m. before Commissioner Richardson. 12 of the defendants pleaded not guilty.

The government's evidence tends to show that Howell and his companions were lured on a raid on the Tennessee river near Bluff City, going in a motor boat at night. Signals from the bank were seen and the boat stopped and then was paddled to the bank. After landing the officers were fired from an ambush and Howell was killed. The actual shooting it is claimed was done by Will Johnson and Harvey Hudson and they are said to have confessed to Prohibition Officer Hampton, who was one of the main witnesses for the government today. After Hampton's testimony, the court adjourned until 2 o'clock this afternoon.

Says an Indian Princess Jumped
From a Morgan County Bluff
Because of Love for De Soto

Speaking about DeSoto, the discoverer of the Mississippi—the first white man to see the "Great Father of Waters" and who saw it first in 1541, Ex-Sheriff James A. Foreman said: "I want to tell you what a young school teacher told me about DeSoto coming to this state. He says that July 2nd 1540, the discoverer first struck Alabama, Cherokee County, and that he had a battle with the Indians at the place called Manville in Montgomery county. Oct. 18, 1540. While in Cherokee county DeSoto sent a detachment of men west, in search of gold and a good route to the far West. These men stopped at Fort Bluff, which is about 16 miles south east of Hartselle, Morgan county, and remained there for a part of the winter. They were joined by DeSoto somewhere in Mississippi. But the history, I studied stated that DeSoto spent the last winter of his life in Alabama, and in the spring of 1541 first looked upon the Mississippi near Memphis. He sickened there and died. He was first buried in the ground, but later his friends fearing he would be taken up by the Indians, his remains were unearthed, placed in a sheet, and after being weighted with sand were laid in the river, he had discovered.

Romance in 1541.
"My informant tells me that while in Morgan county, DeSoto became the object of the affection of an Indian princess, and that when he moved westward, thinking he would never return, she jumped to her death from Fort Bluff. This bluff is plainly visible from Hartselle, and one standing on it can see Huntsville and the great Merrimack Cotton Mills of that city which have over 100,000 spindles. Also Monte Sano Hotel is visible. You can see the Southern railroad trains in winter as they move to and from Decatur, but for some reason the Twin Cities are not visible from Fort Bluff. But we can see the smoke from the Louisville and Nashville shops.

Description of Fort Bluff.
"Fort Bluff is 16 miles south of Hartselle, and is reached by auto via Falkville, Gandy's Cove and the Oden Ridge road. The bluff is about 100 feet high and was crowned by an old military fort built by the Spaniards as a protection and watch tower against the Indians. As the sides of the bluff, excepting its front, stand perpendicular it would seem almost impossible for Indians to make a successful attack.

"There are some graves on the top of the fort, and the timber there is as large as found near, showing how ancient the fort is. It is about 200 feet from one side to the other, and is about two acres in area. There are two springs flowing out from the bluff, one is free stone and other is an iron water. Owing to the fine scenery from the fort, of late, a number of tourists are making it.

"The school children of Ryan's Cross Roads, accompanied by Prof. George Woodruff, are planning a pilgrimage to the old fort, and expect to spend one night on the historic mountain."

North Alabama Crops Better Than Usual, Clyde Hendrix Says

Crops in North Alabama are better this year than usual and the people of the Tennessee Valley are prepared to feed themselves during the winter, according to Clyde Hendrix, President of the Tennessee Valley bank, who is making a survey of the entire territory.

"The people have unusually good crops this year," he declared. "The crops are well worked and practically all of our farmers are prepared for making next year's crop. They have grown corn in abundance, wheat, oats and are well stocked with meat and other foodstuffs. What cotton there is is in pretty good condition. At last we are really diversifying and with even a fair price for cotton this fall, the farmers generally throughout the Tennessee Valley will be on a pretty sound basis financially."

DURHAM, N. C., Aug. 5.—The organization of the Ku Klux Klan, as present conducted in North Carolina, is an organization engaged exclusively in collecting initiation fees under false pretenses without any legal standing and is in my opinion a failure and a fraud," said Major Bruce Kraven, lawyer, financier and writer of Trinity, N. The annual poultry show of the Tennessee Valley Poultry Association will be held November 14 to November 19 inclusive, it was announced today by officials of the organization. The association announced at the same time that Charles Nixon, of Washington, N. J., will act as judge. The two annual shows already staged by the Tennessee Valley Poultry Association have been very successful, bringing here exhibits from many sections, outside of the South, as well as entries from leading exhibitors of Dixie. As has been the case in the previous exhibitions, it was expected that this year's show will be held in the Malone garage.

Officers of the association are: Dr. O. B. Cartwright, president; J. B. Moyer, vice president; W. F. Rauschenberg, treasurer; W. H. Driskill, secretary.

AMERICA HAS FREE HAND IN SHAPING ARMAMENT MEET

(International News Service)

WASHINGTON, Aug. 5.—The United States has been given practically free hand in shaping the course of the international conference on disarmament and Pacific questions which is scheduled to meet here November 11.

Great Britain has indicated her willingness to let America take the initiative in matters pertaining to the program. Italy has followed the American lead in every instance and France has interposed no objections to anything Washington has proposed in anything to date. There remains only Japan to complete the conference table personnel and in the conversations that are now proceeding between Secretary of State Hughes and Baron Shidebara the Japanese ambassador, officials are hopeful that all the irritating questions at issue between the two countries can be cleared up before November 11.

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 5.—Judge Horace C. Wilkinson, special prosecuting officer for the state in the cases of Sergeant Lancaster and eight other national guardsmen charged with the lynching of Will Baird in Walker county, has been invited by the special committee of the Alabama Division, American Legion, to appear before it and make any statement he may desire with reference to the charge made by the defense in the case of Sergeant Lancaster at Hamilton last week that he prepared "cotton notes" a propaganda against the soldiers.

City Engineer Meade Requests

Question

The matter of alleged inadequate fire protection here when the electrical current of the Alabama Power company fails, affecting the pumping facilities of the Alabama Water company, was brought before the Decatur city council at its regular meeting last night. The question was referred to the water committee and it was expected that an investigation will be made.

The council referred to the finance committee the request of City Engineer Meade for a settlement for his services during the recent paving agitation. The committee stated the matter had been given some consideration, but requested further time to make its report.

The council ordered closed a small restaurant on LaFayette street, said to have been operated by John Flynn, following receipt of complaints from health officials.

(International News Service)
ASHEVILLE, N. C., Aug. 5.—North Carolina today loomed as the center of a concerted effort to stabilize the price of cotton. In an announcement here Governor Cameron Morrison, who is making his summer home in Asheville, suggested a conference of cotton commissions from every Southern state to ascertain the world's demand for cotton, the cost of production, the price to be fixed by the planter and if possible to work out some scheme to finance the crop in order to maintain the price so fixed.

He suggested Asheville as the logical point for the meeting. The conferences, according to Governor Morrison's plan, would be composed of men appointed by the governors of the cotton states. He will request each governor, he said, to make the appointments.

Governor Morrison took the action after a resolution requesting it had been passed by the legislature in this state last January.

Officers Seek to Establish Shortage

(International News Service)

MIAMI, FLA., Aug. 5.—Efforts of West Palm Beach police and Federal postoffice inspectors working on the Lena Clarke-Miltmore theft and murder case were directed today toward endeavoring to ascertain if there was a shortage of $38,000 in war savings stamps in 1918 at the West Palm Beach postoffice for which Miss Clarke claims Miltmore was responsible.

CHICAGO, Aug. 5.—Miss Naoma Miltmore, 17 year old daughter of Fred W. Miltmore, slain at Orlando, Fla., to hide a postal robbery, was enroute there today. The daughter said she would aid her mother in prosecuting Miss Lena Clarke, the confessed slayer of her father.

Miltmore was formerly a Chicago postal clerk.

Local Club Ball Club is a Horse on Three Others

The Albany-Decatur Baseball club literally is a "horse on" the other three clubs in the Alabama-Tennessee loop.

This morning President Charles Rountree and Secretary Marvin Rankin called on a number of local fans with requests that they "chip in" their bit to the financial aid of the local organization.

P. E. Detra was called on.

"I haven't the money, but I have a horse you may have," he told the baseball magnates. They accepted.

Now the Twins are a horse on the other clubs.

GOVERNOR URGES PURCHASE OF COAL SOON AS POSSIBLE

(Montgomery Bureau, Albany-
Decatur Daily)

MONTGOMERY, ALA., Aug. 5.—Governor Kilby has appealed to the railroads operating in Alabama and other large consumers of coal to purchase at this time as much of their winter's supply of coal as they can store in order to relieve a serious coal shortage this winter. He called attention to the fact that coal is not moving now because it is not being purchased and that as a result it is feared the demand will be so great when cold weather comes the coal mines will be unable to supply the demand and the transportation companies will be unable to move the coal if the mines can produce it.

Every railroad has been requested to accept on their contracts now an average between the maximum and minimum provided by the contracts. This will permit the operation of the coal mines a greater number of days each week, will cause the transportation now of coal which otherwise will not be moved until the winter arrives, will give employment to many coal miners who are now without means of earning a living.

The letter which the governor addressed to each railroad follows: "As you are no doubt aware, the production of coal is at an alarmingly low stage, being far below a normal summer business. We are confronted with a situation which promises to be equally as serious, insofar as transportation facilities are concerned as that which we faced last winter.

"I wish to suggest, in the interest of avoiding such a coal shortage as we experienced last year, the advisability of railroads and other large consumers of coal laying in now while conditions are favorable as large a surplus supply of coal as can conveniently be stored. I realize, of course, that it is not practicable for you to store a full winter's supply, but if you could at least transport and receive at this time an average between the minimum and maximum amounts named in your contracts, it would serve greatly to relieve the threatened serious situation.

"Advice of any action you may be able to take on this suggestion will be appreciated."

All large consumers of steam and other coal in Alabama now have contracts with the coal companies and the cost to them will be no greater than it will be this winter or at any other time during the life of the contract. Governor Kilby and Roy R. Cox, acting fuel administrator, are hopeful that many large consumers of coal will instruct their mines to make deliveries at this time as much as can be stored for use during the winter.

Officials of the Chamber of Commerce are exceedingly optimistic over the location of the mill here and believe it will mean the ultimate establishment here of one of the South's largest hosiery industries.

THE LANDIS DECISION

RECEIVED WITH ACCLAIM

For quite a number of years the world has spent the best part of its time awaiting results and decisions. Following the war, there was a long wait for the findings of the Versailles conference. Then there was a waiting spell, to see what those "higher ups" called senators would do with the League of Nations; and the working world has waited for decisions of wage boards, and adjustment boards, galore, to say nothing of the many momentous decisions of the supreme court. With a full appreciation of the value and place of games and sport in the life of the nation, in view almost as important as any of these, the recent verdict of Judge K. M. Landis against the "Chicago Black Sox," as the recent defendant, now are now known. Every ball player and baseball official who has spoken at all, has denounced the "black sox" in unmeasured terms, and upheld the courage and wisdom of Judge Landis in forever baring them from organized baseball.

The American people were outraged at the action of Cicotte et al, because the Americans hold their sports and games as sacred. It is in our games that the spirit of fair play and true sportsmanship is to be developed if it is developed at all. Because we happened to play such a national game as baseball, is given as one of the strong reasons why we resented the recent unfair warfare of the Germans, especially their sinking of the Lusitania cowardly submarine crews, and the murder of war prisoners and red cross nurses. If our national games were to have been allowed to degenerate along the lines suggested by Cicotte and dishonest gamblers, the spirit of fairness for the whole nation was doomed. Such considerations as these, but especially the fact that they knew the American people would not patronize dishonest ball, caused the leaders of the great sport, to center on Judge Landis as the national game's "mogul maximums." They had to have him to save the game. And according to his own statement, Judge Landis entered the supreme judges box to save the game. His action in denouncing the "black sox" for all time, is quite in keeping with his many public statements on the subject. Landis' off-hand statement to the press about what the fate would be of the men, a Chicago jury freed but who were condemned by their own admission of guilt and by the verdict of common decency, is a classic in its way, and ought to be a part of the mental furniture of every human head in America.

Judge Landis said:

"Regardless of the verdict of juries, no player that throws a ball game, no player that entertains proposals or promises to throw a game, no player that sits in a conference with a bunch of crooked players and gamblers where the ways and means of throwing games are discussed and does not promptly tell his club about it, will ever play professional baseball."

"Of course, I do not know that any of these men will apply for reinstatement but if they do, the above are at least a few of the rules that will be enforced."

"Just keep it in mind, that regardless of the verdict of juries, baseball is entirely competent to protect itself against the crooks, both inside and outside the game."

One part of this remarkable statement, especially, should be thoroughly digested and concurred in by every good fan and every patriotic citizen, the part where the supreme Judge of baseball condemns those "who do not promptly tell his club" about crooked work. For until the sins of "omission" against base ball are regarded as being as heinous as those of commission, the game remains in grave peril. Landis regards as "particeps criminis" those who will keep still about a crime against clean sport. Is he right?

Blue Law Advocates Being Met
With Fire of Their Own Kindling

(International News Service)
NEW ORLEANS, Aug. 5.—Blue law advocates are being met on their own ground by fire of their own kindling. Crawford H. Ellis, of New Orleans, vice president of the United Fruit company, president of the Pan-American bank and one of the leading citizens of New Orleans in an interview today, outlined the fight now being waged against reformers of the blue law type and the Anti-Blue law league which has been formed to give them battle.

Twenty states now have active memberships, paying annual dues and the membership is rapidly increasing, Ellis said.

"There is undoubtedly a wave of reform in this country. Unless it is checked it will, like all other movements, go to unheard of extremes. We do not wish to combat intelligent reform but we do not propose to have personal liberty interfered with any further. We hope to develop an organization capable of protecting the personal rights and liberties of the American people from fanatical legislation. That is our only object," said Mr. Ellis.

The Twins continued their record of requiring at least two hurlers to face them during every game, easily defeating the Triplets yesterday in Sheffield 12 to 7 in ten innings. After Trotter was knocked out, Leroy took up the hurling burden for the Tri-Cities contingent and the Twins hammed his delivery for 5 runs with 5 hits in two innings.

The Twins secured a total of 18 safeties, two of them home runs by McClain and Johnston. McClain and McDuff were on a hitting spree during the series here continued to sput yesterday, McClain getting three and McDuff four. They were joined by Johnston who also got four blows, batting an even thousand for the day.

The Triplets made the first triple play in the history of the league yesterday, Romine to Underwood to Lucas. The Twins almost made one in Athens, but the decision of the umpire ruled John Cochrane safe at the plate, when it appeared from the stands that he had been caught couple of feet.

ATTENDS MEETING
MONTGOMERY, Aug. 5.—A. W. Briscoe, state insurance commissioner of Alabama and prominently mentioned for secretary of the insurance division of the United States chamber of commerce left Thursday afternoon for Atlanta where he will deliver an address to the insurance men of Georgia at a meeting at the Piedmont Hotel Friday afternoon.

OPPORTUNITY

OPPORTUNITY knocks at everybody's door at least once, it is said, but this is the second "knock" in less than thirty days for the music lovers of our vicinity. Our Sale in July was a great success, and at the last moment we were swamped with customers wanting Pianos and a chance on the Piano which was given away the last evening of the Sale.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS AGAIN

NOW you have another chance. We believe in doing things in a big way and dividing with our customers. We have just received another car of the finest lot of pianos ever coming to North Alabama, and we are going to divide the savings of our car lot shipment with you. In car load shipments the Piano Manufacturers pay the freight. They deliver the instruments to our city, and this is quite a saving over local shipments. WE ARE GOING TO GIVE IT TO YOU.

OUR SALE PROPOSITION

YOU CAN'T LOSE. If you purchase a piano during this sale, you will WIN; You may get FIFTY DOLLARS, you may get TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS, or you may get ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS, but you are sure to win something.

THE WAY IT WILL BE DONE

We are going to write receipts for different amounts, ranging from ONE to ONE HUNDRED AND TWENTY FIVE DOLLARS, one receipt for every piano purchased during the sale, then at the close of the sale a drawing will be held in your presence for the receipts. Did you ever hear of anything like it? You are sure to WIN, because you can't lose.

THAT'S NOT ALL YOU GET; READ ON
In addition to the receipts, you will get free of cost to you, a fire insurance policy covering the total purchase price of your piano, which you can not buy at any price. BUT: This is not all you get. You get an instrument that will be a source of pleasure to you and your family, your friends and your community. You get value unequalled anywhere, and our rigid guarantee of perfect satisfaction goes with every instrument we sell.

See the new styles of Pianos. Come in quick and get your choice of the finest lot of instruments to be found anywhere, and get the advantages of the offerings in this Sale. The greatest chance in a life time.

YOU MUST KNOW WHAT YOU GET

We will not sell you an instrument without telling you just what you are getting. To be successful music dealers, we must tell the truth about the instruments we sell, and this policy has made us the "Largest Music Dealers in North Alabama."

OUR SERVICE

We are prepared
